23/11/18

Hello Everyone
 Owls have been working very hard on tasks this week. We have been working on hand washing at different times throughout the day! Many of Owls are able to present their hand to the towel having washed their hands and some put their hands into the water independently too! We have made chocolate cookies this week and progress can be noted in terms of anticipation and waiting for the ingredients to be cooked before tasting can take place! Some great work both on the magic carpet and working in tandem with the ipad to explore and develop social skills. Taking turns and waiting are such important skills to develop. Have a good week-end.
