

DAN MATTRAVIS—
TEACHER

- Dates for your diary:
- Monday: Swimming, singing assembly and weekend news
- Tuesday: Yoga and maths in the morning and art/cookery with Sheila in the afternoon
- Tuesday: Dan PPA
- Wednesday: Communication, Larcpack, sensory room and literacy
- Thursday: Soft play for some and shopping for others. Science and Larcpack in the afternoon
- Friday: Our community visit, with this term being Fairfield College. If any parents would like to join us for a cup of tea you'd be more than welcome!

Wishing you an excellent holiday!

Dan, Jo, Jess, Tash,
Amie, Alex,
Yasemin and Adi

Don't forget to keep checking our school website for lots of info and links to useful sites.

Penguins Newsletter

Welcome Back! 11/1/2019

As if it is nearly the middle of January. People say it's the longest month but I think it's gone fairly quickly! It looks like you have all had a fabulous Christmas break and did some really exciting things, which the children loved sharing during our weekend news session. It was lovely to have a break and recharge after a very long term, a seven week-er in fact! Thank you all so much for the messages in the news books and emailing photos to me, it makes the sessions run very smoothly and I am very grateful.

So this week we were straight back in to the thick of things with a swimming session. The afternoon was a little different on account of Susie not being in, but we had our own music session in class using lots of different instruments. We were thinking about being 'loud' and 'quiet' and, shock horror, the children are particularly good at being very loud!

Tuesday morning was yoga and Carter absolutely shone as the star of the show. Carter mimicked actions with no prompting and amazed us all, well done Carter!

Jaxon is our Penguin of the week for an absolutely outstanding first week back to school! Great job Jaxon!

Wednesday morning was communication and Larcpack followed by the sensory room and magic carpet. Lynne, our fabulous I.T technician, put together an archive of 'The World' to fit with our Earth topic. It was a lovely chilled day and a great start to the week.

Thursday was soft play for some and shopping for others followed by science and Larcpack. We are thinking about forces, magnets and pushing/pulling. We read the story about the 'Enormous Turnip' and all worked together to pull it out of the ground! Richard was especially good at this!

Friday was our trip to the café followed by P.E, choosing and reward assembly. Have a fabulous weekend!
Dan

What I have been hearing about ...

A reminder to parents/carers that to receive any online communications from school we must have your up-to-date e-mail address. Please remember to let school office have any updated e-mail addresses or changes. Thank you.

