

23rd June 2017

Hello!

Phew-eeee, it's been a real scorcher of a week! I am really proud of the children with how well they coped in the heat! We kept the routine as normal as possible during the mornings whilst it was still just about cool enough to concentrate, and then during the afternoons we cooled down with lots of water play! It was very fun and extremely lovely and refreshing! Mr Cook made sure that the whole school was supplied with ice cool water, ice lollies and ice cream, and it almost felt like we were at the beach! (We are quite glad it's turned a bit cooler though!)

Today, we have been working with the ever amazing Becky, our Artist in Residence, to work in an artistic way on our fine and gross motor skill. We have been doing some crazy painting – painting on lots of different kinds of surfaces and textures, but also in crazy places – underneath tables, the insides of cardboard boxes, underneath umbrellas... it's been one of those days when you're just never quite sure where a Robin will pop out from next brandishing a paint brush! Which has to be a favourite kind of day!

Unfortunately, we were unable to horse ride this week as the stables were taking part in the Warminster RDA show – but we'll be back in the saddle next week!

We also have lots of other exciting activities planned including our Longleat trip! If your child will need a buggy in order to access the trip, then you will need to send one in for them to use during the day. If your child comes in on a bus, please let the PA/driver know that they will need to bring your child's buggy in on the 11th July, as they will need to make sure they have room to strap it down.

Please get your slips back ASAP and please don't hesitate to let us know if you have any queries or concerns. We're here to help!

Have a wonderful weekend!

Rachel
