

Owls Newsletter

23/2/18 2017

Owls new half term has begun with making pink porridge and milkshake with a variety of opinions on the taste of both! Some great progress made in independence and communication.

Now I am back at school I will be working on developing each individual ipad to match the needs of each pupil.

This is a huge undertaking and will be calling on Lynne to help as much as possible.

Please make an appointment to come and discuss progress, as I know I missed the parents evening slots and there are reviews outstanding too. We will be contacting you to arrange new review times.

I am at school early in the morning if you have any concerns please phone me. Have a good weekend!
