

DAN MATTRAVIS—
TEACHER

- Dates for your diary:
- Monday: Swimming and Weekend News!
- Tuesday: Yoga and Maths in the morning followed by Art and D.T with Sheila in the afternoon.
- Tuesday (PM): Dan PPA
- Wednesday: Yoga Larkpack, Sensory room and Literacy
- Thursday: Soft play for some and shopping for others. Science and Larkpack
- Friday: Café, P.E, choosing and assembly"

Wishing you an excellent weekend!

Dan, Jo, Jess, Tash, Amie, Alex and Adi

Don't forget to keep checking our school website for lots of info and links to useful sites.

Penguins Newsletter

Weird weather week!

Hello!

So you may have noticed that storm Callum has hit this morning. It is absolutely gross, wet and miserable and we are really hoping it clears up in time for the café! If not, we will have our snack, come back and get a bit of choosing on the go. I'm currently typing the pre flu immunisations and school photos, so fingers crossed we can manage to get all of those ticked off!

Monday swimming was excellent and Emmanuela was absolutely the swimming superstar this week! She has recently started taking her feet off the floor and has now, on a couple of occasions, made really purposeful attempts to kick her legs with support of a buoyancy aid! Great job Emmanuela! Carter is exploring more space in the pool and Owen worked brilliant with Pete in the deep end...super job!

Tuesday we started the day with yoga, and the children were amazing! The children engaged brilliantly and completed lots of actions with support. They are super brilliant! Tuesday was followed by maths and then art/DT with Sheila.

It was a tough choice for Penguin of the week this week, but it has to go to Emmanuela for her beautiful talking and sentences that haven't relied on prompting! Well done Emmanuela, you are amazing!

Wednesday was communication, and I was out in the morning meet Olu's new teacher from Exeter House to discuss his progress! He is getting on well and has settled in to his new school which was really lovely to hear. Wednesday afternoon we went into the sensory room and enjoyed playing with the magic carpet!

Thursday was soft play/shopping and science in the afternoon, where we are continuing to think about early emotion words and we have seen our best engagement so far! We finished with a Larkpack. Today will, hopefully, see us go out and triumph with the flu immunisations and photos! Fingers crossed!

Have a good one!
Dan

What I have been hearing about ...

Reminders!

Apologies for the lack of photos! We have had such a busy week and have been so engrossed that there really hasn't been a chance to take any! I will make up for it next week!

As a side note, the children posed beautifully for the photographer this afternoon and looked excellent! Well done team!

